CCH Central

Simplify your day-to-day workflows, with everything you need on one screen.

CCH Central redefines software integration by delivering a complete picture of your practice and your clients. This enables you to improve the service you provide through a fully integrated central database, CCH Central intelligently shares information wherever and whenever it's needed.

Wolters Kluwer

An introduction to CCH Central

If you spend your days trying to find out what's going on with your clients and your practice, then CCH Central is for you, as everything you need to know about your client is available on one screen.

This client-centric approach allows you to combine data from all products onto a single drag and drop report. Plus, our workflow tools allow you to manage people, tasks, and deadlines across the practice. No matter who is working on them, or what work they're doing.

Our secure client portal is linked to your client database so incoming files and messages are automatically routed to the correct team and stored centrally for everyone to access. And because our CRM system uses information you already hold about your clients, like income, marital status, tax paid, and company turnover, you'll never have to struggle with messy lists and out-of-date spreadsheets again.

> "I wouldn't hesitate to recommend the CCH product suite to other accountancy practices."
>
> Jill Hindmarsh, Allen Sykes

Features

Greater insight
Get a clear view of what's important this minute or this month. The intuitive interface makes it easy for everyone—even occasional users—to find out what needs to be done.

Improved data flow
Secure links to online sources, including HMRC's digital account for each taxpayer and transactional data from third-party, online accounting systems. Effortlessly provide data to those who need it.

Enhanced client service
Get a complete picture of your clients and your practice without having to swap between individual programs. Give your clients a faster, better service based on complete and current data in real-time.

Efficiency from a single database
CCH Central eliminates wasted effort and eradicates errors with a single, central database so you only enter and update information in one place.

Standardise routine processes
Automate and standardise routine processes within your practice, leaving you more time to deal with any exceptions.

Better planning, greater foresight
Use up to date information to make well-informed decisions. Find out about potential situations before they become problems.

Faster reporting
Simple drag and drop reporting tools make information instantly accessible, no matter where it's held.

Quicker working
Within all modules in CCH Central you can open and detach multiple tabs allowing you to easily scan across different screens quickly for improved performance.